NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A. LONG, Felt and Wool.
Rec'd the following testimonials, which are a sample of the hundreds we have received:
February 1st, 1899.
Mr. J. C. Harris, Hobton, N. C.
Dear Sir:—I notice that my father, James Britt, Sr., is using your non-friction Ring for plow lines. His lines are good not frayed at all, while mine are frayed nearly in two.
You will please send me two pair of your patent Rein Rings.
Very truly,
JAMES BRITT, JR.,
Business Agent, of Bluff Alliance.

THE CAUCASIAN.

Pure Democracy and White Supremacy.

VOL. VIII.

CLINTON, N. C., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1890.

No. 18.

THE EDITOR'S CHAIR.

HOW THINGS LOOK FROM OUR STAND POINT.

The Opinion of The Caucasian and the Opinion of others which we Can Endorse on the Various Topics of the Day.

The world was surprised last week by the news that North Dakota had passed a law legalizing a lottery, with the understanding that a part of the proceeds was to go to pay the State debt. It now turns out that the State is bought up by the Louisiana State Lottery. In other words the Louisiana State Lottery furnished money to the Republicans to buy up enough votes to put them in power on the condition that the party would legalize a similar Lottery in that State. The charter of the Louisiana Lottery expires in 1892, and there is no hope that it can ever get another in that State, so in 1892 the Louisiana State Lottery will move to North Dakota and proceed with operations there. This corrupt bargain not only brands an already tattooed and disgraced party with additional shame, but also a disgrace to the State that its treasury should be a beneficiary of such legalized robbery. There would be no difference in principle, if the State had licensed a lot of highway robbers on the condition that a part of their thefts should go to the State's coffers.

The Seventh Annual Meeting of the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly will meet at Morehead June 17th to 30th. A call has been issued for a meeting of Southern teachers and school officers to meet at Morehead July 1st to 6th, immediately after the adjournment of the Assembly. Dr. F. W. Harris, the United States Commissioner of Education, has agreed to be present. It is a good idea, and we hope the association will be organized and prosper. We need something besides the National Teachers' Association, for northern pronunciation, northern methods and northern history do not suit the South.

Were grand old Dr. "Rugby" Arnold (so reverently eulogized by the author of "Tom Brown at Rugby," alive, his mind, on scanning the English literary field, would doubtless revert to the time-honored maxim "blood will tell." His son, Matthew, has left an exalted and enduring reputation, and in "Robert El-mere" his grand-daughter, Mrs.
Humphry Ward, has shown an earnestness of literary purpose which has thrilled thoughtful men and women throughout Christendom. And now comes another grand-daughter of the good old Doctor, Miss Ethel M.
Arnold, who appears in the New York Ledger of February 15th with a cultured letter on "The London Social World." In this letter Miss Arnold gives the readers of the Ledger valuable and picturesque information regarding the latest evolutions of the literary and artistic circles of the metropolis of the world, and chats pleasantly and with refined animation regarding the celebrities who adorn its social circles.

Here is the very richest joke of this summer season. The innocent Philadelphia Inquirer, Rad., says, without laughing:
"Speaker Reed is making a splendid fight against the despotism of the minority." "Despotism of the minority" is good.
Next.—Post.
Constitutions, rules, etc., are made to protect a minority—i.e.
to protect a majority against itself —to protect a whole country when reason and justice does not hold sway with the majority.

The golden rod has received the largest vote as the National flower, but the bracken Reed still has his way in the Government.

SAMPSON'S BILL ARP.

(Special to THE CAUCASIAN.)

The other day I went over to see the boys, what they were doing the way of work. I had to buy a mule for one of them and furnish the corn to feed it. I was a little afraid to do it, for I fear he would run off to Georgia and leave the crop unfinished and the mule unpaid for. I surveyed the situation. His wife had so many children and so fast (thirteen I think) I concluded I would risk it. There were so many I thought I could grab some of them and make them pick out the cotton and I would watch them and haul it to the gin myself, but I'll bet to one I'll get swamped, for I never shot at a whole drove of blackbirds and hit one yet.
You can always count on a negro until after watermelon time, then he gets like a Mustang pony or a fight, you don't know what is going to come next.
You have not got to have any mercy when you go to break one of these ponies or git in a fight, if you do you are done whipped already and the adversary looks new fields to conquer.

I looked all around the fence to see the prospects. I saw the wheat was coming up pretty, and it bid fair to make a good crop. I felt good, for I knowed when corn was scarce and money too, long in June, I could have a nice time eating dabs out of what is called "seconds," atter pouring over them some of that sorghum syrup I made last year and a little butter, if the old cow has a calf early this spring. If she don't I am going to turn out the yearling, shut the cow up and keep her to milk any how.

As I came along back I struck in with my old friend "Clayte." Says he, hello, says I, how are you? Says I, what's all the fun? Well, I hain't much, I been making preparation for hauling some ditch banks, tant might good, but it helps to change the earth about anyway.
Well, says he, come over tonight, I have got a good o'possum dog and we will go hunting. I'll get the lightwood by the time you get back. He told me where to meet him, and when I got there he was there waiting.
He had his torch lit, so I lit mine. I told him to go ahead I would follow, as he knew the woods. So he set the dog out.
I went along close behind, just right to get a lick in the face by every limb he turned loose.
I began to philosophize. That's just the way with some young men in life. They take some model to follow and they get knocked down every step. So I concluded to watch his light and take my own road.

Far in the dark and gloomy woods we wandered. He remarked the dog did not hunt well. I think there must be some bad spirits around. I told him I expect there was. I had a pint of "bug juice," says he; lets wet our whistle and we will be able to follow the dog better.
Around it goes; clear his throat and he said seek 'em up. On we went 'till way most day, and the tar began to drip on my hands.
And I felt like I did not belong to the Sunday school. We stopped to rest and fix our lights down beside the swamp. I concluded to sit down and let the dog trail around while I snuffed my torch. And as I did, Holy Moses, such a snap in the leaves.
Thunder and lightning! Alligator, snakes, tarreppins, hollow, rain, whist! Help! I made a desperate spring. It was no go.
I had sit down in a trapper steel trap. It did not have me, but my pants. I told him to step on the springs but he could not get to them, so the only alternative was for me to divest myself of the bosom of my pants.
By the time I was extricated from the trap we heard the voice of the dog ring out clear upon the night's still and crisp air. He had come to a bay. Not a sound was to be heard except the clear shrill bow-wow. Oh, my pants! I am glad it's not day.
After much wandering through the branch we reached where the dog was standing in the edge of the field, in an old grave yard and a gloomy place it was.
Yes, the 'possum was in an old grave, and as my friend got a stick to pull him out, it growled heavy, and it sounded like the wails from a silent tomb. But, says he, he growls heavy. It sounds like a 'possum; but I'll bet it's an old sow; and sure enough it was. She had a lot of young ones all clinging to her. I said how are we going to carry her. Never mind, I'll cut down a saplin and split it and put her tail in it. I felt sorry for that 'possum, as I had had mine in a steel trap. I came on home with my game delighted until my mind would revert to my pants and that was quite often, for it was cold.

I put my 'possums in a barrel, and when my mother waked me in the morning she asked me what on earth that was I had boxed up. I told her it was an antidote for the hog cholera. I could not raise hogs, and I had concluded to try 'possums.

I have saddled my mule, and I will go to try 'possums.

REPRESENTATIVE BYNUM.

He Severely Denounces Speaker
Reed and His Party.

Republican Bynum, of Indiana, in denouncing the despotic rulings of Speaker Reed in Congress, said:

"I propose to stand here in behalf of the rights of my constituents. I represent on this floor a constituency equal in intelligence, equal in patriotism."
A Republican—"They are not here." (Laughter.) Mr. Bynum—"They are here in my person, and gentlemen may stand here and sustain the arbitrary, the outrageous, the damnable ruling of the Speaker (applause on the Democratic side), but so far as I am concerned, so far as the people I represent are concerned, we shall not be silenced or gagged on this floor. You, sir, (pointing to the Speaker), have violated more than any man on this floor parliamentary rules and parliamentary practice. You may consu-mate what you have undertaken to do. You have the power, backed by a mob on the floor of this House" (cheers on the Democratic side and hisses from the Republicans).

The Speaker—"Gentlemen will please refrain from the expression of their opinions."

Mr. Bynum—"They may as well refrain. The people of this country are witnessing these proceedings. They have spoken through the press of the country and they have spoken in condemnation of these proceedings, which will bury you, sir, beyond the hope of resurrection (applause on Democratic side).
Men have tried to consummate such proceedings before. At the hour of midnight a Republican Judge made a ruling which perpetuated the Republican party in power; but his name is now forgotten. More than that, this proceeding is in keeping with the practices of your party: it is in keeping with your action when you stole the Presidency (applause on Democratic side).
It is in keeping with the proceedings of the Republican party in the State of Montana. Proceed in this matter, sir. Proceed in this matter."

The Chicago Herald, in commenting on the same rulings, says:

"Ever since the Republicans enfranchised the negroes of the South, and thereby increased the representation of the South in Congress and in the Electoral College without increasing the Republican vote, they have had bad luck with their race policy.
Every solitary infamy that they have ever invented to cheat and oppress the Democracy has returned to plague the inventors."

LIFE OF HON. JEFFERSON
DAVIS.

Circular Letter from Mrs. Davis.

BEAUVOIR, Miss., Feb. 1, 1890.
I have engaged to prepare a biography of my late husband, which will be published at an early date. In order to make the book as complete as possible, I shall be greatly obliged if our friends, whose personal recollections of Mr. Davis would throw light on any event of his life or tend to illustrate his character, will record them and forward them to me. As I shall endeavor, as far as possible, to tell the story of Mr. Davis's life in his own words, I shall regard it as a real service to be furnished with copies of any letters from my husband relating to any public topic that his surviving friends may have preserved. My address will continue to be

Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS,
Beauvoir,
Harrison Co., Mississippi.

This book is to be published by Belford Company, the owners of the Magazine, in which Mr. Davis's articles have appeared. See advertisement in another column.

great whistler?" "Yes, indeed; you ought to hear him some time when my milliner's bill comes home!"—Statesman.

Our Farmers' Column.

SOMETHING INTERESTING
TO THOSE WHO TILL
THE SOIL.

"There is no material progress that is well based and permanent without agricultural progress."

We were out driving a few evenings since with Dr. Carr, of Wilmington, who is visiting in Clinton. We passed several farms near town where by evasion a clay sub-soil was exposed.
The Doctor observed that such land should be plowed with a sub-soil plow, thereby enriching the land and making it suitable for clover and timothy. He said he knew many such farmers with a poor sandy surface soil that had been made valuable by such management.

Then up w' my ploughman lad,
And hey my merry ploughman!
Of a' the trades that I do ken, Commend me to the ploughman.

—Robert Burns.

A certain farmer in this county, losing a quantity of meat during the hot weather, took it off and buried it. A few days after a negro told the farmer that he liked spoilt meat, whereupon the farmer said that he was welcome to it if he would go and dig it up. The negro did so and was surprised to find that the taint had entirely left the meat, being absorbed we suppose by the earth. He informed the farmer, who took the meat back to his meat house and is now using the same.

The Hog.

Commissioner John Robinson, assisted by Profs. Massey, Chamberlain and others, held a Farmers' Institute in Wayne county January 30th and 31st. The Argus, in reporting the proceedings, says:

"Thursday morning Professor Chamberlain discussed the subject of swine and swine raising.
He said: 'Say what you please, but pork is our main dependence for meat supply, and we cannot get along without it.
We must either raise or buy it.
Which shall we do? The hog is valuable as a producer. He turns into a most valuable product all kinds of waste material, and because of his independence in regard to the quality of his food and his habits, he is the worst treated animal in the world. He requires reasonable treatment and makes a good return for it. He is, however, subject to certain sanitary laws, which seem often to be forgotten. Hogs should not be kept in large herds; should be fed on the cheapest and healthiest food, which is clover or grass.
Meat produced from this feed will not be so fat, but will be better than that raised on corn exclusively. Hogs properly managed will improve land faster than any other animal—they improve the land upon which they are pastured most rapidly. Clover for hogs cannot be grown successfully upon all lands, but rye is a great substitute and can be grown anywhere. The first nine months of a hogs life is the time to make the most of him, and the cheapest and best meat can be made during this period. Up to seventy-five pounds pigs make most returns for food given; after this weight is passed the increasing weight is at a gradually increasing cost, therefore, it is a mistake to keep hogs until they grow old. Did not recommend any special breed; many are good, but whatever breed is chosen thoroughbred sires should be used. The boar should be close built, active; sows longer, roomy, with at least twelve good nipples. The skin should be clean, hair soft, ears delicate; feet and legs clean and small; head small-face short and dished. There are many drawbacks, but with care we can raise our own meat and save the continual outlay of money we need to keep at home. I think pork can be raised at present prices at a profit, certainly for home use, by using clover or rye and peas during spring and summer.
'Six acres of clover will keep eight hogs, which will make 200 pounds each, and dress 160 each —1,280 pounds, at 6 cents—$76.80. The land will be improved $10 per acre by the clover and pasture—total from 6 acres $137.80. In Western New York, where I came from, a part of the farm economy is to make the animal work. They work on the clover and make meat and manure the land. The advantages here are far superior to those of that section. In most of this State we can grow clover with much greater success than there. Here we get a crop 1st year, while there they get no crop 1st year, and only a partial crop the third, while we get a crop for three years.'

Mr. W. F. Komegay said that he was one of the farmers who did not even have a pig. He had thought that he was so situated that it would not pay him to—could he better raising beef, but he believed that pork could be profitably raised in the way suggested by Prof. C. He remembered how his father used to raise hogs, feeding heavily the year round on corn, and he had always been sure that meat raised that way must cost 10 cents per pound. He believed, however, that pasturing land by any kind of stock was injurious to the land.

Dr. J. E. Person said that he thought that Mr. Komegay made a mistake in not raising his meat, as we ought to make our farms self-supporting. He had raised more meat this year than ever before, mainly on crab grass and rye. He did not graze the rye but used the grain.

Mr. Bryan: I have pastured hogs on green rye for several years and want nothing better.
I have some spots that I sow in rye in August or September and use the rye for winter and spring feed. They follow the rye in one lot with field peas, an early kind, and in another by ground peas, and turn the hogs on the peas, then on the potatoes and ground peas, and this helps wonderful in the production of cheap pork. To make the most out of this plan the lots should be rich, and this method helps to enrich them. I have never had any cholera among my hogs.
I find a big collard patch a good help in keeping my hogs, also Irish potatoes.

Prof. Chamberlain: Hogs cannot now be raised in the way spoken of by Mr. Komegay.
There is a big difference in hogs.
Pork can be raised more profitably than any other meat, because a large percentage of the food consumed by them goes to make flesh, than in any other animal. Hog cholera cannot be cured, but it can be prevented.
1st. By keeping hogs in good condition by proper food and attention.
2nd. By giving them once a week a small quantity of car-bol in acid.

Commissioner Robinson's way of curing meat—Cut up immediately after butchering, and lay on the floor of smoke house, skin down, put as much salt as will lie on the flesh side, and let it lie till morning, then salt and pack away. In two or three weeks resalt and pack again, and let it lie two or three weeks, then wash and hang up. I never smoke meat. I sack my hams and dip them, after sacking, in hot water and ashes and hang the hams back down to prevent dripping."

REED'S PICTURE WOULD DO.

Mr. Carlisle has never been known to joke but once—a defect in his character. He got off one a few days since. It was this:
"Representative Amos Cummings remarked in Mr. Carlisle's presence that to-morrow he proposed to introduce a resolution providing for publishing 10,000 copies of a work on general parliamentary law for the use of the House. 'Why wouldn't Reed's photograph do?' asked Mr. Carlisle, to the astonishment and enjoyment of those present."—Wilmington Messenger.

Epoch.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory, and the agency whereby this good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health to the use of the Great Alternative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing, you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50c and $1 per bottle at R. H. Holliday's Drug Store.

Carson Parker was found dead in a saloon in Pueblo, Colorado, on Sunday. At one time he was one of the most eminent preachers of the Methodist Episcopal church in New York State. He became a drunkard and outcast and wandered to Pueblo. He leaves a family in Indiana.—Ex

The Business course is especially for young men. The course of study is Book Keeping, Commercial Arithmetic and Business Law, with the requisite amount of time filled up with studies selected. Tuition per month $3.50.
Latin or French, in addition to the studies in any of the above departments, 25 cents extra per month.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT.
In this department instructions are given in both Vocal and Instrumental Music. Tuition per month $2.75 each. When the Vocal and Instrumental courses are combined, the pupil gets twice the amount of time for practice, with a reduction of $1.50 on the regular tuition rates, i. e.
 $4.00 per month. No extra charge for instrument.
A class of girls in ELOCUTION will be started at the opening of the term. Special training in Reading and in Recitations. Tuition 75 cents per month extra.

CLINTON, N. C.,—FEB. 13, 1890.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY, 1890.

To-morrow is—
The fateful day when youthful hearts Are lighted by love's taper, When maid and play-espousal parts,
And to us nuptial darts.
The fateful day, when Cupid's darts Are mostly made of paper.

Prof. James Dinwiddie, of as Principal of Peace Institute.

E. J. Lilly, 75 years of age and one of Fayetteville's most prominent men, is dead.

The foundry of the Wayne Agricultural works at Goldsboro,

The guano men complain that there is a great falling off in the sale of commercial fertilizers this spring. Glad to know it.
The Alliance is getting in its work.

The Directors of the W. & W.
Railroad have elected Warren G. Elliott, of Norfolk, Va., President, to succeed the late Col.
R. R. Bridges. Mr. Elliott is a native of North Carolina, and is a son of Mrs. S. A. Elliott, of Oxford.

We acknowledge receipt of an invitation to attend the celebration of Washington's Birth-Day at Chapel Hill. Mr. S. V. Bryant (formerly one of our teachers at Salem High School) is Introducer Orator. Mr. Henry Johnson is the orator of the day.

Mrs. Davis writes to the papers that she requests copies of all letters of importance. President Davis may have written to any of his friends, to be furnished her for use in preparing the volume now in progress.
Her letter will be seen in an-

We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation from Solon A.
Adams, Secretary of the Florida Sub-Tropical Exposition, Jacksonville, Fla., to visit the Exposition which opened January 9th and will continue till April.
There will be a Grand Inter-State Drill at the closing.

Some time since France passed a decree of exile against the members of the former royal family, making a two to five years imprisonment penalty if any head of the family should ever return to the kingdom.
Prince Philippe, the Duke of Orleans, the eldest son of Comte de Paris, direct heir to the throne, was arrested last Friday in Paris and placed in prison for violating the decree.

Col. A. C. Davis, the Superintendent of the Davis Military School at La Grange started a small school at that place in 1880. In 1885 he founded the present commodious and handsome buildings. His success has been unusual. We are sorry to learn that on the 4th instant he thought it best to disband the school until next fall on account of the meningitis being an epidemic among the pupils, several having died.

Marion Harland, the friend and helper of women everywhere, has taken up the work of restoring the ruined monument marking the burial-place of Mary, the Mother of Washington.

One hundred years ago this venerable woman was interred in private grounds near Fredericksburg, Virginia. In 1833, the corner-stone of an imposing memorial was laid by President Andrew Jackson. A patriotic citizen of New York assumed the pious task, single-handed, but meeting with financial disaster, was compelled to abandon it. Marion Harland says truly —in her appeal to the mothers and daughters of America to erect a fitting monument to her, who gave Our Country a Father-—that "the sun shines upon no sadder ruin in the length and breadth of our land, than this unfinished structure."

The publishers of The Home-Maker, of which Marion Harland is the editor, offer, as their contribution to the good cause, seventy-five cents out of every annual subscription of two dollars to the Magazine sent in during the next six months. Every such subscription must be accompanied by the words, "For Mary Washington Monument." The offer is generous and should meet with an enthusiastic response.

THE CAPITAL.

What is Transpiring at the Head of the Nation.

[Rev. Cor. THE CAUCASIAN.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 8th.
Ex Senator Carlisle is the hero of the hour in Democratic circles, for the able manner in which he has compelled the majority of the House committee on Rules to act in reporting the code of rules sooner than they had intended. The new Rules are about as one-sided and unfair to the minority as they could be, and give Speaker Reed almost as much authority as he has exercised without them. It took seven hours to get a majority vote in their favor from the Republican caucus, and from all accounts the discussion was at times extremely bitter. A Democratic caucus also considered the Rules reported, and although they regard them as so many gag-laws, it was decided that if the Republicans would allow a reasonable time for their debate, so that their injustice might be shown to the country, no unusual obstacles would be interposed by the Democrats to prevent their adoption by the majority, as they only wish to put themselves on record as protesting against their adoption.

Economical men in Congress were surprised to learn from a speech of Senator Morrill's that owing to the over-crowded condition of the public buildings in Washington $121,700 a year is spent by the Government to rent private buildings. The buildings that are worst off are the White House, the Patent office, Post-office and Government Printing Office. The last named is in a deplorable condition, looked at from every stand-point. It is old, and its walls are in a dangerous condition; it is unhealthy and is in constant danger from fire. There is a pretty general agreement that it will be cheaper to erect the necessary buildings than to pay such a large amount for rents. Early action is expected in Congress to relieve this unsatisfactory state of affairs.

The Republicans of the House did not dare to seat Smith, of West Virginia, until they had a legal quorum of their own members present to vote him in. Had they done otherwise the Supreme Court would probably have been given an opportunity to pass on the constitutionality of Mr. Reed's ruling in the matter of a quorum of the House. The fact that the Republicans waited until they had a quorum present to take the decisive vote shows how little confidence they have in the legal status of Mr. Reed's rulings.

Representative Mutchler, of Pennsylvania, who is one of the shrewdest Democrats in the House, says "Reed's rulings have made it a certainty that the Democrats will have good majority in the next House."

The United States Supreme Court has decided that the test-oath clause in the constitution of Idaho is constitutional.
The Blair educational bill, which is beginning to look honary, was taken up this week in the Senate. It will get through the Senate and it may get thro' the House, but it is doubtful.
Considerable excitement was created Wednesday by the news that ex-Speaker Randall was much worse. Mr. Randall has been so deeply interested in the fight in the House that has over-tasked his brain thinking of it in order to make suggestions to the Democratic leaders, and it has had a bad effect upon his health.

A bill has been introduced in the Senate to admit New Mexico. An attempt was made to have the Senate pass the bill providing for the organization of Oklahoma Territory this week, but it failed, not because of opposition, but because precedence was claimed for the Blair educational bill.

The Ohio ballot box forgery investigation was resumed this week. Among the most interesting witnesses were Governor Campbell and Murat Halstead.
Ex-Gov. Foraker attends every session of the committee, and seems to fully realize that he is on trial.

Mr. Harrison did not attend the Supreme Court centennial in New York on account of the sad bereavement in the home of two of his cabinet members.
Secretary Tracy is slowly improving.

CONSUMPTION SURELY CURED.

To the Editor—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease.
By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured.
I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their express and post office address. Respectfully, T. A. SLOCUM, M. D., 181 Pearl St., New York.

Alliance Department.

THE CAUCASIAN was adopted as the official organ of the County Alliance by the County Alliance, January 19th.

There are now 2,978 Alliances in the State. Thirty-five or forty have been organized during the past month.

Would it not be best for the County Alliance to hold a session of two days at the next meeting? The reasons for this we think will suggest itself to the whole membership.

There is a provision for County Farmers' Institute to be held all over the State when desired.
Why not make an effort to get Agricultural Commissioner Robinson to hold one in this county? We suggest that the President of our County Alliance communicate with him.

which W. A. Faison is defendant, or one of the defendants, I will expose to public sale, to the highest bidder for cash, at the Courthouse door in Clinton, on Monday the 24th day of February, 1890, the same being Monday of February Court, a certain tract of land of the said W.
A. Faison, situated in part in the county of Sampson and in part in the county of Duplin, beginning at the said W. A. Faison and Morisey corner on the run of Turkey swamp and up said run to the public road leading from Clinton to Warsaw, then to a stake on said road, to within one chain of Red Hill Branch, corner of the land formerly belonging to A. M. Faison, then with a dividing line between said W. A. Fai-son and A. M. Faison, a direct line to a holly on Buck Hall, thence with the line of said W. A. Faison dividing his lands from the lands of Bo-more, Herring, Brown, Peirce, Blackmore, Ballam Boyette, J. R. Fai-son, M. C. Blount, the C. Thompson land and the Morisey land to the beginning, containing 340 acres more or less, saving and excepting the homestead of the said W. A. Faison, which said tract of land.

Pitch Forks, full supply of Mechanic's Tools and Builder's Material; the celebrated Collins' Axe. In fact, anything in this line you need.

SPOIL MEAT!

I am very sorry to learn that so much of our home meat has been spoiled, but since this is so we will be compelled to buy. So I have bought a large supply for cash at one-half cent below regular price. I will give you all the benefit of my good fortune.

Groceries!

All other Family Groceries, in view of the hard times, will also be sold almost at cost. I would call special attention to my celebrated CHALLENGE FLOUR.

GOOD, PURE WHISKIES

That can be relied on for family purposes, I always keep.

Pure Mountain Corn Whisky a Specialty.

BAILEY BROTHERS TOBACCO when once used is always used. Here is the only place you can get it.

Come and buy where you will be sure to get a good quality and where your money will go as far as possible.

My two polite and clever clerks, Miles Jackson and John Turner, will be pleased to see and serve their many friends.

Yours, for our mutual advantage

J. H. ROYAL.

Increases the yield of milk from Cows and improves the quality.
We have hundreds of certificates from reliable persons, all over the country, to prove above.
It is SURE!

It is INEXPENSIVE!
It is NO HUMBUG!
It is INVALUABLE TO THE FARMER!
If you have a sick beast buy a pound and try it.
We have three testimonials, and can furnish any number on application to any one of the agents.

Saxton, S. C., August 2d, 1889.
Messrs. J. C. Stevenson & Taylor, Wilmington, N. C.
Dear Sirs:—After using the half barrel "Champion Food" purchased of you we can readily say that it has fulfilled every representation made for it so far as we have tried it. In no instance has it failed to benefit stock fed on it. We can particularly recommend it for milk cows, calves and colts.
We regard it as the best stock food on the market. Send us another half barrel.

Yours Truly,
J. R. ALLSHOOK.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Oct. 10th, 1889.
Messrs. J. C. Stevenson & Taylor, GENTLEMEN:—The "Champion Food" you sold us has been given a fair trial. It is a success, and we are glad to add testimony to its worth. When fed to our horses we find it improves at once. It is a great conditioner, and a trial will prove its value. We have fed it to our cows and with the same it has proved a great digestive, both the flow and the quality of the milk has improved, the per centage of increase we cannot yet positively state. The food does all you claim in the line of tests we have made; we shall continue its use and advise all the owners of stock to give it a trial.
